

COMPLIANCE & SAFETY

Safety & Culture Labeling

It is an OSHA requirement for all containers to have labels for knowledge of what is within & whether it could cause harm. It is best, if possible, to utilize an original container from the manufacturer that contains the label. Per the OSHA Hazard Communication Standard, a signal word, pictogram, hazard & precautionary statements, product identifier, & supplier identification are required on the label.

What's in this container?

Compliance Company Resources

We use our resources wisely. Company facilities, supplies & equipment may not be used for personal activities. All policies related to purchasing, storage, use of supplies & equipment, & payroll must be adhered to.

Compliance in Action

- Use Vandalia Health resources for business needs only & keep them in good condition
- Follow proper procedures for disposing of resources & equipment
- Ensure computers & other equipment is stored securely

Q: My coworker punches in for me when I cannot find a parking space, that's ok isn't it? I mean I am actually here.

A: You are "actually here" for payroll purposes only when you are at your workstation, not when you come onto property. Having another employee record your times for you is considered timecard fraud & potentially a breach of security policies.
